Introduction: Prophecy and Revelation In his/her field

Anyone who studies the history of divine messages will see that Almighty God chose His prophets to be superior to their people. He will understand that it was supported by miracles of that kind, so the evidence is convincing and the proofs are irrefutable. And over time, divine revelation has remained the standard by which understandings are corrected and which protects the divine nature and infallibility of the prophets from any distortion or alteration that may come to them.

This includes Quranic texts and other sacred texts. This is clearly evident when compared with the texts.

First: The way God supports his prophets with miracles.

1. During the time of our Prophet Moses, magic was widespread, so God sent our Prophet Moses with a staff that turned into a snake to challenge the magicians. During the time of our Prophet Jesus, medicine was widespread, so God sent our Prophet Jesus to challenge the doctors by healing the blind and lepers, and raising the dead with His permission.

Poetry was widespread during the time of our Prophet Muhammad, so God challenged poets with the style of the Quran when He revealed it.

Of course, just as handwriting bears the imprint of its author through its style and structure, spoken language also bears the imprint of its speaker through its rhetoric a

Machine Translated by Google

It carries within it. With its miraculous style, exquisite structure, profound meanings, and irrefutable arguments, the Quran cannot be the word of man. And just as experts can discern an author by their handwriting, anyone who contemplates the Quran with an open mind will understand that this discourse could only originate from God; for its eloquence, rhetoric, and profound legal and metaphysical insights surpass human capacity.

Second: The Foundations of Faith and Doctrinal Differences

2. Belief in the unseen is fundamental.

People believe in the miracles of prophets they have never witnessed; just as Muslims believe in the miracles of Prophet Muhammad, whom they have never seen.

Machine Translated by Google

Just like their belief in revelation.
Everything depends on faith and belief in the un and we Muslims rely on the Prophet Muhammad.
Knowing the truth of Muhammad,
we believe in the unseen.
We believe him because he was known as a trustworthy and honest person.

3. Christians believe that Jesus was crucified to save them from their sins, and this
This is a false belief; Muslims believe that God does not punish anyone for the sins committed by another.

Third: The limits of the Christian message in the Bible.

4. Evidence that God sent the Messiah only to the Israelites.

Machine Translated by Google

(Matta 15:24)

Jesus said, “I was sent only for the lost sheep of the house of Israel.”

Fourth: Historical accuracy between the Quran and previous holy books.

5. The Quran mentions a king who reigned during the time of our Prophet Yusuf (Joseph).

He states that he is not Pharaoh; Allah says in the Quran: (And the king said, "Bring him to me").

Historical facts have confirmed this.

However, in the corrupted Bible, Genesis In his book, the numbers between fourteen and forty-one are different.

Machine Translated by Google

"So Pharaoh summoned Joseph, and they quickly brought him out of prison."

In the Bible, Genesis 39
Although it is stated that the Hyksos seized control of Egypt

Because the Hyksos did not have pharaohs, Their rulers were known only by the title "king".

Fifth: The concept of "sonship" in biblical texts.

6. Just as the manipulated Bible says that God is the Father of Christ, it also says that God is the Father of the Israelites, and they do not prove that God begot the Israelites; so why do they say that God begot Christ?

Evidence:

Machine Translated by Google

- Exodus 4:22-23: "Then you shall say to Pharaoh, 'Thus says the LORD: Israel is my firstborn son. I said to you, "Let him serve me," but you refused. Now I will kill your firstborn son.'" Here, God attributes the Israelites to Himself and says, "My firstborn son."

- Deuteronomy 32:6: "Is he not your Father and your Creator? He is your Creator and He made you."

  This text addresses the Israelites, confirming that God is "their Father."

- Jeremiah 31:9: “They will come weeping,

Machine Translated by Google

I will guide them with pleas.
I will lead them to rivers of water where they will not stumble.
“I will lead them on a straight path,
for I have become the Father of Israel, and Ephraim is my firstborn.” God
clearly stated:
He says, "I have become the Father of Israel."

Sixth: Discussion of the verse about Jonah and the time periods.

1- Jesus says in the Gospel of Matthew (12:39-40):

"A sign of a wicked and adulterous generation."
They are searching, but they will not be given any sign except the sign of the Prophet Jonah. Because
Just as Jonah spent three days and three nights in the belly of the great fish, so too can humankind spend three days and three nights in the ear
It will remain in your heart."

Machine Translated by Google

Explanation:

The prophet Jonah did not die in the belly of the whale; he survived while he was there. Based on the analogy used by Jesus, it can be understood that he would be alive while he is "in the heart of the earth," that is, in the tomb.

However, Christians believe that Jesus died on the cross and rose again three days later.

2- Jesus said in Matthew 12:40:

"Just as Jonah spent three days and three nights in the belly of the great fish, so too can humankind spend three days and three nights in the ear It will remain in your heart."

Problem:

According to the Gospels, Jesus was crucified on Friday afternoon and buried before sunset. More

Machine Translated by Google

Then he rose again at dawn on Sunday morning. The time between burial and resurrection is as follows: Friday night - Saturday - Saturday night - Sunday morning, that is, less than three full days and three nights.

Christian interpretation (of the Jewish days) (calculated according to the method):

Among Jews, any part of the day counts as a full day; therefore, Friday (part of the day) = one day, Saturday (day and night) = one day.

And Sunday (part of day and night) = one day. According to this interpretation, "three days" is calculated partially, not literally.

Yes, according to the traditional Jewish method of calculation, any part of the day

Machine Translated by Google

It is based on the principle of counting it as a full day; this is called "holistic calculation" in hermeneutics.

Evidence for this calculation method:

- The Old Testament exemplifies this principle.
- The Jewish Talmud also says this.

  This confirms it.

Does this also apply to the resurrection of Jesus?

According to the Jewish calendar, Christians might say: Friday: Any part before sunset counts as a day. Saturday: A full day.

Sunday: Any part of the day after sunrise is considered a day.

Machine Translated by Google

That counts. Therefore, it can be considered as "three days".

Criticisms of this comment:

- Jesus didn't just say "three days," he said "three days and three nights," and this.. It doesn't align with totalitarian thinking, because the night isn't over.

- If Jesus knew that the Jews counted in this way, why did he add "and three nights"? If he was referring to the Jewish method of counting, saying "three days" would have sufficed.

- In the story of Jonah, Jonah He remained inside the whale's belly for three full days and three nights; this wasn't a partial calculation.

Conclusion:

Machine Translated by Google

The Christian interpretation is based on the traditional Jewish narrative, However, it doesn't completely resolve the "three nights" issue, which has become a point of contention among commentators.

While some believe there is an error in the chronological interpretation, others rather than the literal meaning of the word He believes it is symbolic.

Seventh: The Prophet Muhammad (peace and blessings be upon him), the prophecies of the prophets, and asceticism.

3. A response to those who say that Prophet Muhammad claimed prophethood in order to make a lot of money:

He got his share of the spoils By giving it to the Muslims, he said, "This

“I have nothing from the spoils of war, nor from this,” he said, and raised two fingers, “I only took one-fifth, and that one-fifth is being returned to you.” He lived on little food;
According to Aisha (may Allah be pleased with her), “The family of Muhammad did not eat enough barley bread for two days until the Messenger passed away.”

The prophecy of Prophet Muhammad (The Song of Songs):

This is about Prophet Solomon (peace be upon him). It is an independent book of poetry attributed to a scholar. It is written in the Arabic alphabet. The text is as follows:

Bölüm 5, Ayet 1.6: "Haku Mamtakim, Kulu Muhammadim, Zeh Dodi, Zeh Re'i Benut Yerushalayim"

Other good news:

The reference in 1 Deuteronomy (2:33): "The Lord came from Sinai and dawned upon them from Seir; he shone his light from Mount Paran..." Sinai: A reference to Moses (peace be upon him). Seir: A reference to Jes Paran: According to ancient geographical texts, the mountains of Mecca. ÿ Muslims interpret this as a reference to Muhammad (peace be upon him).

References in the 3rd Bible (John 14 and 16): “I will ask the Father, and he will give you another who will be with you forever.”

(John 13:16). “Helper”

Eighth: In the Quran

The transcendence of the Creator and the infallibility of the prophets

The Quran proclaims the glory of God and the infallibility of His prophets.

How did he portray God differently from the distorted biblical texts (Old and New Testaments) that attribute flaws to God and great deeds to the prophets?

1. Challenging the attributes of the Creator

Reading (the transcendence of the Quran and the contrast between anthropomorphism and neediness)

In sound doctrinal thinking,
The Creator should be characterized by absolute perfection, yet contemporary biblical texts attribute human characteristics to God.

The answer from the Quran is: There is nothing like Him.

God is all-powerful, all-capable, and everything is subject to Him.

2. Questioning the moral values of the prophets (Bible's accusations against the infallibility of the Quran)

From an Islamic perspective, prophets are "exemplary individuals" chosen by God because of the purity of their hearts. However, other

In the texts, they are accused of grave sins that ordinary people would find unbecoming of them.

- Attacking Prophet Aaron (peace be upon him) (idolatry): In the Old Testament (Exodus 32): The text states that Aaron was the one who made the calf for the Israelites!

  It is stated in the Quran: "We have decreed that Aaron was completely innocent. Aaron had said to them before, 'O my people, you have been tested by this. Indeed, your Lord is Most Merciful. So follow me and obey my command.'" (Taha: 90).

- Insulting Prophet Solomon (peace be upon him) (is against religion)

(Conversion): In the Old Testament (1 Kings 11): The text claims that Solomon worshipped idols in the last years of his life!

In the Quran, He says: Himself

They did so. (Al-Baqara: 102)

- Slandering the Prophet

Modern scientific studies have shown that the Earth's fissures extend to include the seabed and ocean floor. On the seabed, there are fissures in the Earth's crust through which molten fluid flows from the interior.

Modern science has discovered these cracks through which molten lava flowed hundreds of meters into the water, and this sight suggests the sea was on fire! This fact has been conveyed to us by Almighty God in the Quran with the verse, "By the sea engulfed in flames!"

28. Almighty Allah says in the Holy Quran: (And We sent down water from the sky and gave you to drink, but you are not its guardians.)

The verse describes a scientific miracle; the body does not store water after drinking, but rather immediately eliminates it to avoid the harmful effects of storage, and this has been proven by modern scientific facts.

29- Almighty God says in the Holy Quran : "He creates you in the wombs of your mothers, after your creation, in three stages of darkness." (Al-Zumar: 6) This is evident in the surprising harmony between the description in the Quran and modern science.

This accurate explanation, unknown to humanity at the time of the Quran's revelation, is consistent with newly discovered scientific facts and the Quran.

The miraculous aspect of the verse:

The verse states that those whom Allah has led astray feel a tightness in their chests, as if they were ascending to the heavens, experiencing a feeling of suffocation. Modern science has proven that the higher a person ascends into the upper atmosphere, the lower their oxygen levels become, leading to shortness of breath and a feeling of suffocation. This situation coincides with the Quranic expression with astonishing accuracy, thus demonstrating the scientific miracle of the Holy Quran.
